

About

Paula Pääkkönen (born 1990) is a glassblower and an artist. She works in the famous glass village of Nuutajärvi, Finland. Glass is her main material because it's such a challenging element - the glassblowing techniques are an endless source of inspiration for her. As an artist, she is currently working with the theme of childhood, memories and imagination. In her work she is chasing the moment, when common things still have a hint of magic and the proportions of the world may vary.
